Clean Energy Design
Our Keeper’s and Whistle house offer fully-equipped kitchens, complete with a gas oven and refrigerator. Each house features a grill, outdoor shower and central heating. All beds have pillows and blankets. Be sure to bring bath towels, bed linens or sleeping bags, food and fresh drinking water for your stay. Ground water at Race Point is slightly salty and is used for everything except drinking.

From our Guest Log…

“Speechless! Can’t wait to come back!”
J.M. – New Jersey

“Wonderful time! Always wanted to do this!”
P.F. – Vermont

“Awesome, fun and exciting!”
M.V. – Barcelona, Spain

“Can’t get any better. A world of peace and serenity!”
V.K. – Ohio

“Amazing beauty! In spite of the rain we love it here!”
M.F. – Massachusetts

The Keeper’s house offers three guest bedrooms upstairs. Your Keeper or Keeper family occupies the downstairs bedroom and shares all common areas with you and other guests.

The Keeper’s house has been restored to its 1950’s-era beauty. Nestled in the sand dunes, it overlooks the ocean with spectacular views from every window. Transportation is provided for those staying overnight in the Keeper’s house. Be careful - the ride to Race Point is so beautiful you may not want it to end!

The Whistle house showcases two bedrooms and one bath. Available from as few as two nights, or weekly from Saturday to the following Saturday.

The Whistle house offers privacy for up to eight people. You will need your own four-wheel drive vehicle and oversand permit. Weekly permits are available from the National Park Service. Once acquired, you can drive to the house through sand dunes on ocean-view trails surrounding Race Point lighthouse. Nearby Provincetown also offers dining, theatre, whale watching trips and much more.

Race Point Light Station is volunteer operated by the Cape Cod Chapter of the American Lighthouse Foundation, a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization.
